This Is Revelation Made So Far in Rosenthal Murder Case-Becker Is in Bad.

GAMBLERS PAID FROM . $50 TO $500 A MONTH

New York, N. Y. July 31 .- If it can be proved that police licutenant Becker instigated the murder of Herman Resenthal, the crime cannot be condened for any exposure of graft that he might be able to produce, said district attorney Whitman today.

The district attorney will hold another conference with Rose this afternoon. Rose's estimate of the annual graft of $2,400,000 is regarded as conservative. Rose alleged four police officials got the money. The authorities are investigating a report that James Verreila, a saloonkeeper shot bygangsters early today, was killed in revenge for his betrayal of "Dago Frank" Cirofici, alleged member of the gang that killed Rosenthal.

Every trait and lead is to be followed persistently, no matter where it ends, by district attorney Whitman to learn by whom $2,400,000 graft money said to have been distributed, was finally received.

said to have been distributed, was finally received.

Graft Charges of Vast Importance.

The relations between the gamblers and the police is, in the opinon of the district attorney, a matter of more public importance than the Rosenthal case.

The district attorney proposes to break up the relations said to exist between the gamblers and the police, if he has to protect every man involved in the murder of Rosenthal except those who fired the shots.

To Subpena 50 Witnesses.

More than 50 witnesses will be subpensed to appear before the grand jury to tell what they know of alleged police blackmail.

District attorney Whitman is in possession of a list of names of big and little gamblers given to him by Rose, who, alleged Becker, asked for the names of gamblers who could be made to give up.

mamea of gambiers who could be made to give up.

Rose says gambiers paid from $500 to $50 a month.

Meanwhile, police lieutenant Becker, a prisoner in the Tombs is saying nothing, and there is no confirmation of the report that his defence will be that three gambiers, Rose, Vallon, and Webber, finding the case going against them, got together and framed the story that would involve Becker.

"Big Jack" Seelig, to whom Rose says he sent word to get the men to slay Rosenthal, will appear when wanted. His counsel has told the public prosecutor that Seelig would tell everything he knows of the case.

The alleged assassing of Rosenthal, Harry Horowitz or "Gib, the blood," Lefty Louie" and "Whitney Lewis, "are still at large. "Dayo Frank" Cirofici is in custody.

Gambling Graft Enormous.

Sworn statements tending to show that the annual graft collected by high police officials in New York City from gambling houses and other illegal resurts has amounted, within the last year, to $2,400,000 are in the hands of district attorney Whitman.

The statements were made to the district attorney today by "Bald Jack". Rose, self-accused graft collector for police lieutenant Charles Becker, head of the "strong arm" squad, who hast alight began his second day of incarceration in the Tombs as an instigator of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

Four Systems of Police Graft.

This annual yield of $2.400,000 protection money was equally divided, according to the story told by Rose, among four high officials of the police department, one of them being Becker, and from other evidence the district attorney has collected he has reason to suspect that $500,000 was further distributed. In other words there were four separate systems or bureaus of distributed. In other words there were four separate systems or bureaus of graft collection, euch headed by a high police official.

Mr. Whitman, it was learned, has the names of the other three police officials and his further efforts will be directed toward strengthening the evidence against them. One of the officials named, it was learned, holds a position at headquarters, and is in a strict sense, a civilian employe.

Former official implicated.

The name of a former prominent city

The name of a former prominent city official has been brought to the attention of the district attorney as tention of the district attorney as having been closely connected with the graft system, but it was learned that the evidence thus far obtained against him is not langible. The evidence, however, is being closely followed by the detectives in the employ of the district attorney.

It became known last night that if It became known last night that if lieutenant Bocker will tell all she knows, not only in respect to his own alleged complicity in the murder, but will unfold the inner workings of the graft system, in so far as it may involve the "men higher up," no effort will be made to enforce the extreme penalty for the crime of which he now stands accused—the murder of Rosenthal—but he will be granted lenlency on that condition only.

on that condition only.

Becker Handled $600,000.

The alleged fact of the $5,400,000 graft fund was told to him by Becker, Rose said, in a sworn statement today. Becker, he said, told him that he handled $600,000 and that equal amounts were handled by three other officials. This, he said, came in collections from

This, he said came in consections from gambling houses, pool rooms, houses of ill repute and the like.

Part of the business between the gamblers and tine police, the district attorney was told, was boildly done through checks, but his efforts to secure evidence in this form have proved fertiless.

fruitless.

Gridgle Webber, the gambling-house keeper who has confessed and whose story largely resulted in the arrest of Becker, promised Mr. Whitman, it was learned, to corroborate Rose's statement in regard to the collections. Incidentally, Webber today admitted to the district attorney that $2,000 was the sum which he received to pay the men who actually fired the shots that killed Rosenthal.

*Relied on Becker for Protection.

Relied on Beeker for Protection. Relied on Becker for Protection.
In regard to the murder itself, Rose told Mr. Whitman that the reason it was done so openly and that no effort was made to cover the number of the hig gray murder car as it drove up to the Hotel Metropole, was that Becker was "relied" upon for protection.

tion.

In addition to the men"higher up," district attorney Wildman is investigating the records of the two members of the "strong arm" squad who helped Becker in some of his so-called fake gambling raids.

Will Disarm Americans.

Gen. Orozco has given an answer to the demands made on him by secretary of state Knox regarding the raids on American properties, particularly relating to the ensuing Mormon colony situation. While the rebel leader's remarks were not directed at the United States official's message, they came as an answer to the points conveyed in the message from Washington and were given to the Associated Press for publication. Orozco Monday had given out a strong announcement that he had sanctioned the disarming of the Amyrican settlers in the Casas Grandes colonies. Today he did not hedge.

CONSUL CLAIMS FEDERAL VICTORY

The Mexican consul in El Paso claims that the battle reported from Casaa Grandes as a rebel victory, was wen by the federals. In such an event, the federal army should have been able to reach Casas Grandes by this time. The Herald's messages came through Tuesday night and Wednesday morning from Casas Grandes. Shortly before noon Wednesday, however, the wire went down, which might mean among other things that the federals had come into Casas Grandes and cut it.

The Mexican consul received telegraphic advice of the battle of Ojitos, he says. The rebels began the attack with six cannon and a force numbering between 2000 and 2500 men, the dispatch says. Opposing this force was the main column of Gen. Sanjines, which the federal government had recruited at Agua Priets The exact number of the federals engaged was not given in the message.

The federals had two cannon and three machine guns but the rebel fire was not effective, Gen. Sanjines says, numbers of shells falling with in the federal lines but failing to explode. One of the shells hit the telegraph office at Ojitos, the consul says, but did not explode.

The central rebel column retreated under fire, the message said, and started back to Casas Grandes. The cannon were being dragged with the retreating forces, Gen. Sanjines said. The report stated that there were seven dead rebels found on the battle field and one prisoner had been taken. The federals had five wounded.

Many rebel horses were captured by the federals, having been left on the field by the retreating rebels, Sanjines stated. Three wagons, thought to be the ones stolen from the Corralitos ran ranch, were also captured the federals report, together with the ammunition and provisions contained in them,
